

SARA DARE is a British painter whose practice explores colour, form and the shifting relationship between abstraction and the body.

Working with simple, familiar shapes, Dare alters and reconfigures them to create paintings that sit between the playful and the provocative. Her work has been commissioned and exhibited across art, design and hospitality contexts, with paintings held in private, commercial and interior collections internationally.

Her current series, HYSTERA, explores the V-shape as a recurring form within Dare's practice, connecting abstraction with ideas around femininity, bodily experience and transformation.
